

BI-02A.59 Restraints on drive trains and other mechanical components to arrest damage from failed components

(Accountable - Engineering Manager (Site) (Unassigned))

Expectations

Fluid lines are protected when there is significant mechanical failure e.g. a broken drive shaft.

Specify

Specifications and associated introduction to site/maintenance processes confirm that restraints are fitted to minimise mechanical damage to fluid lines if there is a significant mechanical failure.