

BI-09.01 Emergency Preparedness

(Accountable - Operations Manager (Unassigned))

Expectations

There should be a formal approach to emergency preparedness on site. It should include local response, emergency response through to crisis management.

Specify

There should be a formal approach to emergency preparedness on site. It should include local response, emergency response through to crisis management.

Any processes applied act to formally confirm all credible emergency types are identified and match these to strategies for site and external agency capabilities for response (confirming numbers of trained people and available equipment match the range of credible losses).

Implement

All personnel should be trained to deal with emergencies and emergency response resources should be routinely checked and maintained.

Monitor

ER Drills should be occurring.