

BI-04P.14 Positive communication protocol for passing/moving close to a vehicle

Expectations

Passing of vehicles is well managed and based on positive communications.

Specify

Communications requirements detail passing vehicle requirements. At a minimum these requirements cover:

- Radio (or other communications) call up protocols
- Confirming that communication has been received

Implement

Training and Assessment in requirements for Positive Communications included in generally delivered modules (e.g. Induction) and reinforced in Vehicle Operation modules. Start of shift or similar briefings should identify intended active haul circuits / work areas and include guidance information on the area owners and required communication to occur prior to passing.

Permanent or mobile signs for call up requirements.
